

Wells of Love is the service learning program of the humanitarian nonprofit Amman Imman: Water is Life.

WATER IS LIFE

Amman Imman

Bringing water and hope to those who have none

Amman Imman's mission is to empower the world's most underserved and vulnerable indigenous populations by addressing their most essential needs. Serving as a conduit between these populations and the rest of the world, Amman Imman raises awareness and engages individuals of all ages to take action.

Wells of Love empowers students as "Heroes of Compassion" – empathic leaders with caring, philanthropic spirits - by engaging them to help bring stability, life and hope to the world's most vulnerable. Humanitarian projects around the world provide opportunities for youth to turn their compassion into action, transforming them into young global stewards. Since 2006, youth in the Wells of Love program have been helping Amman Imman build permanent sources of water in the Azawak of Niger in West Africa.

Uniting young people of all ages, from preschoolers to university students, as caring philanthropists capable of turning their empathy into direct action.

Empowering youth as activists as they raise funds and awareness for some of the world's most underserved and vulnerable populations.

Connecting cultures through reciprocal exchanges that nurture friendships and promote international understanding.

Amman Imman: Water is Life
www.ammanimman.org

For more information about the Wells of Love program, please contact Debra Kahn
email: debbie@ammanimman.org
telephone: 240-418-1143

Anahou and Mariama enjoy the water at Amman Imman's borehole in the village of Tangarwashane in the Azawak of Niger, 2009. The borehole was built with the help of students.

Transforming perspectives and attitudes as youth are guided to understand that leadership is about having a positive impact on the world through compassion and giving.

Presenter name: Debra Kahn
Workshop session # 1, Bridges to Africa
Amman Imman: Water is Life / Wells of Love

Increasing awareness among students about some of the most crucial humanitarian and environmental issues of our time, and how these issues affect the lives of children and families around the world.