Join Jaime Casap as he kicks off the week with an inspiration to innovation.

You might recognize Jaime Casap's name as he was a keynote speaker at The Montessori Event 2022. He's back and excited to facilitate the inaugural AMS Leadership Labposium.

Jaime Casap served as the chief education evangelist at Google for more than 14 years and was the second member of the Google for Education team. In that time, Jaime launched Google's GSuite tools into higher education and K12 and Chromebooks into education. He is the creator of the Google for Education Transformation Framework, a holistic approach to education transformation.

Jaime is now partnering and collaborating with higher education institutions, school systems, and businesses around the world, helping them build transformational policies and practices to elevate education and bring equity, diversity, and inclusion into their policies and practices. Education is Jaime's lifelong passion and he continues to impact transformation in the field and inspire a generation of young minds to pursue their dreams.
